

Figure. Cross-sectional diagram and electron photomicrograph of a human cilium depicting the complex structure and arrangement of microtubules and dynein arms. Each arm (inner and outer) are composed of numerous proteins and multiple dyneins.